Senior Management Changes at DP World

Lloyds List DCN, Australia by Jim Wilson

25 Aug 2016

Ray Lee appointed DPWA General Manager Port Botany

"Ray has stepped in to the General Manager, position in Sydney, where he will lead the terminal until the end of the year. With his many years of experience in the stevedoring industry and intricate knowledge of DP World Australia's business operations, our Sydney terminal is in excellent hands as we approach our peak period," a DPWA spokesperson said.

Mr Lee replaces Glenn Wayne who has returned to DPWA Brisbane as general manager operations after leading the Sydney Terminal since May 2016.

Mr Lee is currently Managing Director at Portside Solutions. He has worked on a variety of port projects around the world. He appears to have had two stints at Portside. Most recently from June 2011 to present and, before that, from February 2007 to February 2008.

Prior to that, from November 2009 to June 2011, he was the Director of Operations, DP World, ANZ/Pacific in Australia. Before that he was a General Manager and director from June 2009 to November 2009 at Fremantle, Australia, again for DP World.

Formally he was involved in senior terminal management roles, including General Manager with Patrick Port Botany in Sydney from February 2004 to February 2007.
